Genting's big loss

GENTING Hong Kong, parent company of Crystal Cruises, Dream Cruises and Star Cruises, reported a loss of US$244.3 million in 2017.

The result was an improvement on the US$504.2m loss in 2016.

This improvement was attributed mainly to a one-off gain of US$205m for the disposal of certain available-for-sale investments and the absence of a 2016 impairment loss of $305m on ordinary shares in Norwegian Cruise Line Holdings of US$305m.

Genting HK recorded 77.2% cruise occupancy for 2017, down from 81.7% in 2016, but its number of capacity days rose from 3.6m to 4.8m.

Symphony shows

ROYAL Caribbean Int'l has revealed details of its new shows produced for Symphony of the Seas.

Headliner Flight: Dare to Dream promises to use "cutting-edge 3D flying technology, video and automation" to tell the story of the past, present and future of air travel & space exploration.

Additional headline shows across different venues include 1977, an updated Hairspray featuring new choreography, and aqua show HiRO, which utilises extreme-sport athletes.

P&O Cruises tempted Australians with a "thrill-seeking activity of a lifetime" over the weekend as pranksters played tricks across the globe for Apr Fool's Day.

The hoax promised to launch "Walk the Wire" - the world's first tightrope walk between two cruise ships as they sailed the Pacific Ocean.

P&O said the safety harness-equipped activity would involve a 30m walk from the top deck of Pacific Aria to Pacific Eden on a cable 40m above the sea.

MEANWHILE, the cheeky new entrant to the market, Virgin Voyages, promised to bring underwater wi-fi, which it was calling "wa-fi".

"Imagine exploring the underwater world, coming across a fish you want to learn more about and being able to do that research right from your phone," the company said on its website.

When it broke the news that it was all in the spirit of April Fool's Day, the line assured "As soon as it is invented, we are sure to consider it".
