

Carnival Splendor ready to Rock-n-Glow

THE perms, shoulder pads, and fluorescent headbands were out in full force last night on board Carnival Splendor, as travel agents jitterbugged the night away to celebrate the vessel's big debut in Sydney.

Hundreds of agents were invited on board to mark Splendor's official welcome, where they were able to enjoy her many new features added following a recent dry dock, including three new cafes in JavaBlue, Juice and Java and the Serenity Bar.

Splendor also now boasts four new dining concepts on board such as the brand new India-inspired Masala Tiger, as well as Guy's Burger Joint, popular steakhouse Fahrenheit 555, and the 24/7 Italian restaurant Pizzeria del Capitano.

Speaking on board the ship last night, Carnival's Vice President and General Manager, Australia

Jennifer Vandekreeke said that the line had invested a great deal of time to make sure Splendor would make a big splash in the Australian market.

"It really was a collaborative effort with our operations team to make sure we brought a ship down to this market that was really going to be bigger, bolder and better than previous Carnival ships," she said.

"This was the first Carnival ship I sailed on in 2008 and when I saw her recently after her dry dock, I could barely recognise her because the changes were so amazing," Vandekreeke added.

Further fun additions include the installation of the Green Lightning water slide, featuring a heart-pumping 11-metre drop.

Year in review

THIS year we have stood together as an industry celebrating shared successes like the opening of new port facilities, inaugural visits by international cruise line players and maiden voyages to regional ports.

We worked closely again with organisations like CLIA and NZCA and signed an MOU with the Global Port Network.

A record contingent headed to Seatrade USA, and we welcomed some great speakers to our annual conference in Geelong including Melissa Witsoe ahead of Windstar's inaugural visits here in 2020.

We have seen many new members join ACA, and we welcome Transam Argosy which provides port agency services on Norfolk Island. The island's three new passenger transfer vessels have opened the door for increased cruise visits.

Australia Cruise Ship Excursions has also joined ACA as providers of group sightseeing tours. They operate in Melbourne, Sydney and Newcastle offering historic site walking tours, wine tours, harbour cruises and wildlife tours.

But our industry also stands together in difficult times. Earlier this year Carnival Australia stepped up to support tours in Tasmania following the fires. They have also introduced drought relief cruises to help regional families doing it tough.

This week we have come together again in the shadow of the volcanic eruption in NZ which has impacted passengers on board Ovation of the Seas. Our thoughts are with the passengers, crew and team at RCL who are having to come to terms with this tragedy.

Hug your loved ones and see you all back on deck in 2020.

AHOY fitness fanatics - the "WOD (Workout of the Day) on the Waves" fitness cruise is returning for the second time in Apr on Celebrity Cruises' Celebrity Infinity.

The cruise will depart from Miami and sail across the Caribbean for four nights, giving guests the chance to participate in workouts and seminars led by US Olympic athletes and CrossFit Games champions.

There will be eight dedicated workout areas on the ship that will host different fitness classes all day long for guests to come and go as they please, as well as special events, including an "island workout experience" at Happy Hour CrossFit in Nassau.
