Chimu celebrates 15th with a twang

LATIN America and Polar specialists Chimu Adventures celebrated its 15th anniversary in Sydney last night, bringing together an exclusive group to party, and announcing one upcoming celebrity passenger.

Co-founders Chad Carey and Greg Carter confirmed exclusively to Cruise Weekly Australian musician Paul Kelly would be the group's next special guest aboard its charity cruise in 2021.

Sailing to the Falkland Islands and South Georgia on 11 Mar 2021, the Songs of the South journey will bring the rock legend and 450 guests on a 21-day voyage, with a lead-in price of $17,995ppts.

Carter noted the importance of finding a celebrity participant who fitted with the company's sustainability ethos.

"[Kelly's] a big advocate for climate change, Carter told CW.

"We've worked with a lot of great celebrities over the years: Andrew Denton, Samuel Johnson, Peter FitzSimons; we're looking for the next person who gels with our culture."

Carey also reflected on how the industry and the space in which Chimu operates had changed over the years.

"It's always been about how we can differentiate ourselves; now we've got hotels, we've got Endeavour, our own DMCs managing our packs on the ground, it's completely different."

Eclipse's welcome in NY

SCENIC'S vaunted yacht Scenic Eclipse (rendering pictured) will be formally christened in New York on 10 Sep.

After several delays, the company confirmed the inaugural voyage would take place as planned, departing Reykjavik on 15 Aug bound for Quebec.

Scenic Chairman Glen Moroney, announced Academy Award-winning actress Helen Mirren as godmother at the ship's christening, after which it will undertake a series of cruises on the East Coast of the US.

"Scenic Eclipse is a unique ship that requires an equally unique person to act in this role," Moroney said.

"We are delighted to welcome Helen Mirren as Scenic Eclipse godmother - her style, beauty and spirit of adventure are true to those embodied in the design and ethos of Scenic Eclipse."

The ship features 114 all-verandah suites along with 10 dining options, a large spa and gym with a separate yoga studio, plus two six-guest helicopters and one six-passenger submarine.

Scenic also highlighted a range of technology innovations on Eclipse, including oversized "zero-speed stabiliser fins," a Polar Class 6 rating, GPS dynamic positioning meaning the ship can remain stationary without an anchor, and redundancies in propulsion, navigation, safety systems and food refrigeration.

The ship has faced numerous delays due to the bankruptcy of the shipyard where it was being built, with the company making all efforts to ensure the ship's delivery (CW 13 Feb).

Famous women

CELEBRITY Cruises has launched a new video called Crew Up with Women to celebrate the cruise line's commitment to gender equality aboard its ships.

The company said that the number of women working on its ships had increased from 3% in 2015 to 22% fleet wide in 2019, with Celebrity Cruises President and CEO Lisa Lutloff-Perlo reinforcing the trend by encouraging parents to "teach your daughters to worry less about fitting into the glass slipper and more about shattering the glass ceiling."

Non-profit, female-focussed production company Pitch Her Productions produced Celebrity's latest video.

Yamashita joins Dream

DREAM Cruises has announced that noted National Geographic photographer Michael Yamashita will join guests on board Explorer Dream for a 21-night sailing from Shanghai to Sydney.

Sailing between 06-27 Oct, the Shanghai to Sydney cruise will see

Yamashita run a series of masterclasses on board called "Explore Through the Lens", with topics covered such as camera basics, essential equipment checks, shoot planning and lighting.

Low water levels

THE ongoing heat wave in Europe has lowered the water levels in major rivers systems across France, Hungary and Germany - affecting a portion of river cruise itineraries.

Viking Cruises released a statement confirming "some upcoming sailings will be impacted", responding by launching several contingency plans to bypass affected areas.

Water levels in the Danube are "much below normal", according to riverinfo.eu, with The Elbe River, which runs through Germany, also experiencing low levels.

Weather forecasts show that very little rainfall is predicted across much of the European regions affected.

European rivers are no stranger to low water levels in recent times, only last year several river cruise lines were forced to cancel cruises last Oct (CW 23 Oct 2018).

MANY believe Richard Branson is a man capable of doing anything, but with Virgin Voyages' Scarlet Lady set to debut in 2020, can the sexagenarian create a cruise for people who are disinterested in cruising - such as himself!

Branson has been on the record regarding his disdain for cruising, even mentioning he has never been on a cruise in his 69 years.

He doubled down this week, mentioning in the media he has never even been interested in going on one.

Riviera's Walk and Discover in Europe

RIVIERA Travel River Cruises has launched a new 'Walk and Discover' program of guided walks for active travellers.

Guided by local experts, the tours take up to 20 guests, and follow paths and trails through forests, meadows, vineyards and rivers.

Walks start at $55 on the eight-day Medieval Germany sailing and the eight-day Blue Danube sailing, and lead in from $75 aboard the 15-day Heart of Europe cruise.

The small-group walks will be available from Sep.

Mumbai savings

SAVINGS of up to $1,000 per couple are available on Viking's 30-day Mumbai to Mediterranean Passage sailing when bookings are made by 31 Aug.

The cruise departs 03 Apr 2020 and features visits to 10 countries across four continents, with calls including Jordan, Egypt, Malta, Italy, Algeria, and Spain.

Prices for the voyage lead in at $12,995 per person for a Veranda stateroom - for more information call 138 747.
