Cruise lines anchoring in WA

MAJOR cruise lines are "all aboard" for this year's WA Cruise Exchange, which is being hosted in Perth.

The seventh assembly of the Exchange is being hosted at Crown Towers Perth from 18-20 Jul, showcasing WA's ports and shore excursions to the world's cruise lines.

Supported by Tourism Western Australia, the Exchange aims to continue to raise the profile of the state as a world-class cruise destination, growing the economic benefits for WA ports in future seasons.

A host of representatives from the sector are scheduled to attend the conference, including Ambassador Cruise Line, APT Travel Group, Carnival Corporation, Coral Expeditions, MSC Cruises, Ponant, and Royal Caribbean Group.

Nine Western Australian port destinations will be represented, including Albany, Broome, Busselton, Dampier, Esperance, Exmouth, Fremantle, Geraldton, and Port Hedland, as will the peak body for Aboriginal tours and experiences in the state, the Western Australian Indigenous Tourism Operators Council.

Also attending are ground handlers, shipping agents, and representatives from peak industry bodies, including the Australian Cruise Association and Cruise Lines International Association.

Tourism WA's Western Australian Cruise Tourism Strategic Plan 2023-2033 has also been announced at the event, which outlines how the state can further build on the successful return of its cruise industry last year, and its master plan to boost its presence among future itineraries.

Travel & Cruise Weekly have ready-made social media toolkits to inspire your clients.

IT IS no longer solely priceless pieces of art that have to watch out, as climate activists recently blasted paint on a US$300 million yacht belonging to an American billionaire.

The yacht, named Kaos, belongs to Nancy Walton Laurie, who is the heir to the Walmart fortune.

The vessel was blasted with paint while docked in Ibiza.

Almost akin to a terrorist group, The Futuro Vegetal group claimed responsibility for the crime, uploading a photo of two of its members standing in front of the yacht with signs which read "you consume others suffer".

HAL competition

HOLLAND America Line (HAL) is offering travel advisors the chance to win a cruise in Northern Europe next year.

Running from now until the end of Sep, every booked and deposited HAL cruise during the promotional period goes into the running to win the sailing.

Advisors must also complete the competition entry form - all details available HERE.

Ponant to break the ice

PONANT'S Le Commandant Charcot (pictured) is set to embark on a world-first expedition to the St. Lawrence River during the heart of the boreal winter.

The line's 2024-2025 winter program is now offering the voyage through the ice of the St. Lawrence, said to be a world-first for a cruise ship.

Guests can embark on a 13-day journey on board Le Commandant Charcot to Quebec and the Innu and Mi'kmaq communities of Canada.

With four voyages available, travellers can savour the expansive frozen landscapes adorned with ice and immaculate white forests illuminated by the aurora borealis.

The cruise promises the potential to encounter the emblematic caribou, elk, and black bears in their natural habitat.

Hiking, snowshoeing, kayaking, dog sledding and ice fishing is available for adventure seekers, allowing them to explore this environment.

The St Lawrence River in the heart of the Boreal Winter travels from Quebec to Saint Pierre Island from $31,910 per person, with four sailings available from Jan to Feb 2025.
