Newcastle cruise terminal funds withdrawn

PROPOSED government funding of $12.7 million allocated to the construction of a new cruise terminal in Newcastle (CW 30 Nov 2017) has been terminated, according to a statement released by the Port of Newcastle yesterday.

"While disappointed construction of the terminal facility cannot proceed at this time, we respect that funding is no longer available," the statement said.

"Our consultations with the cruise industry have been beneficial in better understanding its needs and ensuring that the design of any future infrastructure will be well-informed by the industry."

The project reportedly hit tough times last Jun, when a stand-off emerged over the price of the construction.

According to the Newcastle

Herald, the Port said it was unable to build the planned terminal within the state funds set aside close to two years earlier, with then-Port of Newcastle Chief Executive Geoff Crowe seeking "less than $4 million" in additional funds.

Several months later, the government said it would not be spending more on the project, with issues deepening in Feb after claims the terminal was unlikely to include a homeport capability.

Despite the funding pull, the Port of Newcastle says it will continue to support the Hunter's tourism sector by berthing incoming cruise ships in port as well as "coordinating the many wonderful volunteers dedicated to welcoming visitors to our city".

Vasco da Gama to set sail

CRUISE and Maritime Voyages (CMV)'s newest ship, Vasco da Gama, pictured, is on track to sail on her maiden voyage from Singapore to London next Tue, with the 44-night voyage completely booked out.

The ship, which is the fifth vessel to join the cruise line's fleet, will arrive in Sydney in Dec, making calls at destinations such as South Australia, Tasmania, Australia's north west, and south east Asia.

Managing Director of Cruise & Maritime Voyages Australia, Dean Brazier, said he is excited to have Vasco da Gama as the company's primary Australian ship during the summer cruising season.

"This ship will offer Australians more destinations at affordable prices, giving our guests the chance to explore their own backyard and beyond in a new way," Brazier said.

"With Vasco da Gama, we will become the first cruise line ever to visit Wallaroo, and our other maiden visits for us will include Kuri Bay, Broome, Portland, Phillip Island and Sandakan in Borneo."

The ship's inaugural Singapore cruise will visit destinations including Malaysia, Thailand, Sri Lanka, Mumbai, Egypt, Jordan, Israel, Morocco and Portugal, before arriving in London Tilbury.

To celebrate the vessel's launch, Cruise and Maritime Voyages are offering guests $222 free onboard credit in Oceanview cabins and above on selected voyages.

Bookings must be made by 06 May, with eligible cruises including the Bali and Treasures of the Northwest itinerary, the Broome and Treasures of the Northwest trip, & Tropical Escape.

Oceania's record

OCEANIA Cruises experienced the "single best booking day in the brand's 16-year history" on 17 Apr, following the opening of bookings for its 2020/21 winter season voyages.

The day, which recorded a 20% increase in bookings over the previous winter season launch "underscores the increased demand we are experiencing from loyal repeat guests and new guests alike", said President and CEO of Oceania Cruises, Bob Binder.

The season features 85 itineraries, including sailings to Australia and New Zealand.

Cuba restrictions

THE US Government has reportedly imposed restrictions on cruise and air travel to Cuba, limiting nonfamily travel to the Caribbean island.

While details of the restrictions are not yet clear, the New York Times has reported it is expected to "seriously hurt the tourism sector on the island".

A spokesperson for Norwegian Cruise Line Holdings said the company is "closely monitoring" the developments.

"The company's itineraries, which include Cuba...will continue as scheduled," it said.

Windstar's Med

WINDSTAR Cruises is today promoting its range of 2020 Mediterranean itineraries, including a brand new Egypt addition.

Highlights of the updated journeys include the 10-night Mediterranean Island Hopping Adventure, and the 10-night Corinth Canal & Western Epicentres of the Ancient World - see the back page.

CLIA UPDATE

with Joel Katz
MD, CLIA Australasia

A new landmark

IN AN industry well accustomed to breaking records, it would be easy to overlook the latest global cruise passenger figures released by CLIA. Worldwide, 28.5 million people took a cruise in 2018 – almost 7% more than in 2017 – setting yet another benchmark in a long line of record years.

This puts us on track to hit a landmark 30 million passengers in 2019, which will mean an increase of almost 60% in the past decade.

To support this growth, the cruise industry is investing billions of dollars in more advanced vessels. This year, CLIA cruise lines will launch 18 new ships, catering for between a few hundred and more than 5,000 people.

But our industry's growth depends not just on the hard work of the cruise lines and their travel agent supporters, but also on continued investment on land as well as at sea. Expanding cruise fleets need to be backed with investment in infrastructure, and for Australia this is very important.

We'll talk more about this next month when CLIA releases its 2018 Source Market Report for Australia, which will reveal how our local market has performed. One thing is certain: ongoing infrastructure investment is needed, particularly in Sydney, if Australia is to capitalise on the levels of growth we're seeing worldwide.
